Ready for Forced Medical Interventions?

By Dr Joseph Mercola | mercola.com

Story At-A-Glance

- The World Health Organization has become extraordinarily conflicted, primarily through its funding, and by serving corporate masters, it fails miserably at promoting global health
- The WHO will form the foundation for a one world government, under the auspice of coordinating and ensuring global biosecurity. This becomes evident when you review the proposed amendments to the 2005 International Health Regulations (IHR) and the WHO Pandemic Treaty
- The proposed IHR amendments will erase the concepts of human dignity, human rights and fundamental freedoms from the equation. The first principle in Article 3 of the 2005 IHR states that health regulations shall be implemented "with full respect for the dignity, human rights and fundamental freedoms of persons." The amendment strikes that sentence
- Instead, international health regulations will be based on "principles of equity, inclusivity and coherence" only. This means they can force you to undergo whatever medical intervention they deem to be in the best interest of the collective
- The IHR amendments grant dictatorial powers to the WHO director-general and unelected regional directors. The WHO's "recommendations" will be legally binding by all member states, and will supersede all national and state laws, including the U.S. Constitution

What is the World Health Organization, and what is it for, really? In the Children's Health Defense (CHD) video (<https://live.childrenshealthdefense.org/chd-tv/shows/good-morning-chd/the-weaponization-of-the-who-with-james-corbett/>) Dr. Meryl Nass interviews investigative journalist James Corbett of The Corbett Report about the weaponization of the WHO. Nass also published a Substack with additional background information for this episode. (merylnass.substack.com/p/background-to-my-interview-with-james)

The WHO is actually a specialized agency within the United Nations. It was initially established in 1948 to "further international cooperation for improved public health conditions," but we can now see that the long-term goal of the WHO is to serve as a foundation or hub for a one world government under the auspices of coordinating and ensuring global biosecurity.

This becomes self-evident when you review the proposed amendments (apps.who.int/gb/wgih/pdf_files/wgih1/WGIHR_Compilation-en.pdf) to the existing International Health Regulations (IHR) and the new pandemic treaty, which Nass and Corbett review in the featured video.

I also provided details about the treaty in "What You Need to Know About the WHO Pandemic Treaty." (<https://takecontrol.substack.com/p/the-who-pandemic-treaty>) Below, I will primarily focus on the proposed amendments to the International Health Regulations (IHR).

Health Regulation Amendments Will Legalize Tyranny

taken into consideration. Human rights will not be taken into consideration, and neither will the concept that human beings have fundamental freedoms that cannot be infringed.

Another amendment is that public health measures will no longer be aimed at achieving "the appropriate level of health protection." Instead, the new objective will be to attain the "highest achievable level of health protection" without any consideration of proportionality. It's easy to see how this amendment will be used as justification for the removal of individual rights and freedoms.

Dictatorial powers will be given to the director-general of the WHO — The director-general will have sole power to declare the beginning and end of a public health emergency of international concern (PHEIC), and the sole power to dictate responses (including travel restrictions, mask mandates, lockdowns, business closures and vaccine requirements), and the allocation of resources to that PHEIC, including funding and what drugs are to be manufactured and used.

These dictates will override and overrule any and all national laws within member states, including the U.S. Constitution.

The obligations under the amended IHR are legally binding, and any member nation that refuses the director-general's recommendations can be punished through a variety of mechanisms, including economic sanctions and embargoes. Note that the term "recommendation" is defined as "legally binding," which means they're actually dictates, not suggestions.

Dictatorial powers will be given to unelected regional directors of the WHO — Similarly, appointed (not elected) regional directors will have the power to determine what constitutes a public health emergency of regional concern (PHERC), and their decisions will also overrule all other laws and Constitutional rights.

Eliminating privacy rights — One of the amendments (page 25) authorizes the disclosure of private and personal data, including genomic data, "where essential for the purposes of assessing and managing a public health risk," i.e., contact tracing and related efforts.

Expanding censorship — The WHO will "strengthen capacities to ... counter misinformation and disinformation" at the global level. In other words, censorship of information will be expanded. The WHO will dictate what "truth" is, and since its decisions are legally binding, countries must enforce compliance.

Mandating vaccine passports and digital IDs globally — The IHR amendments will also give the WHO the power to mandate the use of "health certificates," (jamesroguski.substack.com/p/the-proposed-amendments-to-the-international) i.e., vaccine passports. The vaccine passport, in turn, will operate as your digital identification, which will be tied to every aspect of your life, including your bank accounts and social credit score. (takecontrol.substack.com/p/wef-social-credit-system)

In short, it will usher in a surveillance and forced

In a December 16, 2022, Substack article, (jamesroguski.substack.com/p/the-proposed-amendments-to-the-international) James Roguski also reviewed how a temporary crisis (the COVID-19 pandemic) — which, by the way, is long since over — is being used by the WHO to seize permanent power.

The WHO's 'recommendations' are legally binding by all member states, and supersede all national and state laws, including the U.S. Constitution.

Here's a quick overview of some of the most dangerous and egregious IHR amendments they intend to implement, and what it will mean for you and I. For additional details, see the three references listed here: (libbyklein.substack.com/p/powering-up-the-who-be-alert-and) & (jamesroguski.substack.com/p/the-proposed-amendments-to-the-international) & (merylnass.substack.com/p/more-on-the-who-power-grab)

Eliminating the concepts of respect for human dignity, human rights and fundamental freedoms — The first principle in Article 3 of the original IHR states that health regulations shall be implemented "with full respect for the dignity, human rights and fundamental freedoms of persons."

The proposed amendment to this Article will strike "with full respect for the dignity, human rights and fundamental freedoms of persons." Now, health regulations will be based on "principles of equity, inclusivity and coherence" only.

What does that mean? Think "You must wear a mask/social distance/isolate/get jabbed to protect others," even if you're not sick, or for whatever reason don't want to do any of those things.

Autonomy over your body will be eliminated. You'll have no right to make personal health decisions. Even if you suspect you might die from the intervention, you have to comply because it's all about what's "best" for the collective.

Individuals won't matter. Human dignity will not be

Evidence of Crimes Against Humanity

By Larry R. Cappetto

“What I’ve seen in my practice has been a substantial, massive increase, unprecedented in menstrual abnormalities prior to pregnancy. A substantial increase in infertility. A substantial increase in miscarriages, fetal death and fetal malformation. What we’ve seen is catastrophic!! It’s a dangerous signal like no other.”

~ Dr. James Thorp. Board certified OB/GYN and Maternal Fetal Medicine Doctor, St. Louis MO

Drug companies and the federal government today are getting away with murder, literally! Just an objective review of the vaccine injured and deaths in VAERS (vaccine adverse event reporting system) extrapolated from their own data by the good people at vaersanalysis.info will validate my case. They claim, based on VAERS data, “Your risk of dying from a COVID vaccine is 172 times greater than a Flu Vaccine”.

The medical and healthcare industry today are run like the forced labor camps during the holocaust in World War II in Europe. They are simply put, “Medical Gulags.” Hospitals and healthcare facilities administering these shots are crime scenes. The major medical and healthcare profession in the United States has become subservient to big industry and big Pharma.

I presented my evidence in a case here in Colorado at a local church on December 13. After doing some research and confronting many pharmacies here in western Colorado, I came up with the evidence I needed to convict the drug companies producing these harmful shots.

My nephew, who worked as a police officer here locally took the shot under duress and now is in a wheelchair unable to talk, walk, eat and perform the necessary normal functions of life. He suffered at the hands of these drug companies with two massive strokes, seizure, a brain bleed and two life-threatening surgeries. He is a Father with three children unable to care for them or go back to work.

My mission is to present the evidence and hold these drug companies and the federal government liable for their gross negligence, pain and suffering inflicted upon the American people. These are experimental drugs which highly violate the Nuremberg Code. They are crimes against humanity!! Women now especially are suffering at the hands of these evil doers and being affected by these lethal injected damaging drugs.

I would like to share a short 3-minute video from my case on Tuesday. You can view it here: lcappetto.wixsite.com/stop-the-shots/intentionally-blank

Know Your Rights

By Tanya Gaw, founder Action4Canada.com

Guidelines for Peaceful Protesting / Gathering / Rallies and/or Attending Events
action4canada.com/know-your-rights-guidelines

Action4Canada’s Tanya Gaw and her team, have created Know Your Rights Guidelines along with an accompanying webinar to inform Canadians of their constitutionally guaranteed rights, and how to assert them when approached by law enforcement or government officials.

The freedom to peacefully protest; freedom of speech, thought and belief; and the right to privacy and work; are all protected rights — not privileges — according to the Constitution and the Charter of Rights and Freedoms. Police, elected officials, educators, government employees, and lay people do not have the authority to hinder or prohibit citizens from: expressing their opinion or concerns; engaging the public; or participating in all levels of civic engagement, except of course in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice. This means, in part, that any orders, statutes or regulations that purport to deny to you your rights and freedoms, cannot be arbitrary, overbroad, or grossly disproportionate.

Of significance is the Supreme Court’s ruling that upheld the right to gather and protest, as was its analysis of the importance of freedom of expression: Garbeau v. Montreal (City of), 2015 QCCS 5246 (CanLII).

Know Your Rights Guidelines is a resource which includes relevant sections of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms:

Section 2 states that every person has the following four fundamental categories of freedoms and liberties:

ACTION 4 CANADA

Protecting Faith, Family and Freedom

Action4Canada.com

Section 9

- a. Freedom of conscience and religion;
- b. Freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression, including freedom of the press and other media of communication;
- c. Freedom of peaceful assembly; and
- d. Freedom of association.

Freedom of speech is a principle that supports the freedom of an individual or a community to articulate their opinions and ideas without fear of retaliation, censorship, or legal sanction. The term “freedom of expression” is sometimes used synonymously but includes any act of seeking, receiving, and imparting information or ideas, regardless of the medium used.

Guaranteed Right to not be Prohibited, Harassed or Detained
Section 7

- Everyone has the right to life, liberty, and security of the person and the right to not be deprived thereof except in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice.

Section 8

- Everyone has the right to be secure against unreasonable search and seizure.

- Everyone has the right not to be arbitrarily detained or imprisoned.

Section 10

- Everyone has the right on arrest or detention (a) to be informed promptly of the reasons therefor; (b) to retain and instruct counsel without delay and to be informed of that right; and (c) to have the validity of the detention determined by way of habeas corpus and to be released if the detention is not lawful.

Privacy: The Supreme Court of Canada has emphasized in many cases, in the strongest possible terms that a citizen’s right to privacy is sacrosanct and subsumed in both s. 7 and 8 of the Charter and is of paramount importance to life, liberty, and security of the person, and protects citizens from unreasonable search and seizure.

This resource outlines scenarios of situations wherein these guidelines may be needed, including: what to bring to events and how to conduct yourself; handing out flyers/brochures/leaflets in a public space (eg. school sidewalk); attending a public meeting such as a council meeting or Board of Trustees meeting; or peaceful protests.

This resource also includes a section on how to interact with government agents/police. It can be printed or downloaded onto a phone for quick access.

Action4Canada has created many other resources, all of which are available on our website. We have recently updated most of our NOLs. Be sure to check back regularly for new or updated resources.

Why Pay With Cash?

By Penny Wyse

Why pay with cash as opposed to a bank card everywhere you go? Here’s a simple explanation for one good reason:

I have a $50 bill in my wallet and when I eat at a restaurant, I’ll pay for my meal with it. The restaurant owner uses that $50 to pay his bill at the dry cleaner. The dry cleaner uses the $50 to pay for his haircut. The hairdresser uses the $50 to pay for groceries at the supermarket and so on. You get the idea. After an unlimited amount of payments, that $50 note remains unchanged — it has served its purpose to everyone who used it to pay for goods and services. The bank has not interfered or profited in any way.

Now, what if I go to the restaurant and pay for my $50 meal by debit or credit card? The cost of my digital payment which is billed to the restaurant owner as a percentage is an average of 2.5% or $1.25. If the restaurant owner then pays the dry cleaner digitally, the dry cleaner pays the hairdresser digitally and the hairdresser pays the supermarket digitally, that same $50 has already been reduced by $5. There are no unlimited transactions. After 40 transactions, that $50 has become the property of the bank because of all the transaction fees.

Why give the banks more of our money than we need to?? Cash is king.

Fact Checkers or Propaganda Fine-Tuners?

By Netanya Bilhete

It is no wonder that most Canadians have been clubbed into complacency and inoculated against truth.

At some point during the past two years, each of us has looked to our phones as oracles. We'd hoped to find guidance within their cold screens only to see the first page of results littered with "fact-check" websites. Each headline urges us to look away, to squash our doubt.

The cloned articles chant in unison: "What? No. Only disinformation demons, imbeciles, or psychotic conspiracy nuts would ever think that. Here is the fabricated evidence to the contrary."

Today's digital surveillance and censorship apparatus operate on the same principles as did the Gestapo, or Soviet intelligentsia. The only difference is that its implementation has become more sophisticated.

Despotic regimes rely on coercion, loyalty, and legitimation to maintain power. They rely on surveillance and censorship to suppress dissidence. The illusion of personal autonomy must also be maintained — at least in countries like ours, where leaders parade their supposedly democratic values like fine plumage. This is why repeating the same talking points over and over ad nauseam is important; if the people believe that authority is well-intentioned and trust the integrity of the information they're being presented, then they will never question their leaders' behaviour.

Rather than forcibly inject an experimental modified RNA product into their subjects, the globalists opted to make us complicit in the process — berating, shaming, and punishing us into obedience absolved them of their guilt.

Respect for persons, beneficence, and justice: though the powers that be were in the process of violating each ethical principle in research and medicine, the majority of Canadians believed that they were upholding these virtues. Such division, suffering, and death caused by keystrokes and well-thought-out campaigns meant to dissuade us from questioning The Great Narrative. In short, the pen was proven mightier than the sword.

Apart from the usual legacy media suspects, self-proclaimed fact-checking websites such as Canada Fact Check, AFP Fact Check, FactsCan, Décrypteurs, and Rumor Detector serve to delegitimize dissidence.

The publisher of Canada Fact Check — a misnomer, of course — is a public policy consultant and government relations specialist. He'd previously held a position as the Senior Researcher for the Ontario New Democratic Party. According to a sparsely populated LinkedIn profile, his interests include our very own Prime Minister Trudeau, as well as the global consulting firm McKinsey & Company.

For context, the latter was paid $35,000 a day to advise the Quebecois Premier François Legault on managing their Covid-19 response measures. The firm also boasts of its partnership with the World Economic Forum, and services clients such as the World Health Organization, Pfizer, and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

AFP Fact Check is a subsidiary of Agence France-Presse. Founded in 1835, Agence France-Presse (AFP) is an international French news agency headquartered in Paris. Two of their employees, Paul Julius Reuter and Bernard Wolff, later founded their own news agencies, Reuters in London and Wolff in Germany. L'Agence is an ICFN signatory and receives up to 40 percent of its funding from the French government.

The global news conglomerate has also been contracted by Facebook to 'combat misinformation'.

The International Fact-Checking Network (IFCN) in turn, was created by the Poynter Institute for Media Studies in 2015. It is the shark that the rest of the bottom feeders have globbed onto.

According to their website, "This informal network, a forum for fact-checkers from five continents, is born out of the desire to study and discuss fact-checking as a journalistic instrument worldwide."

Among the Poynter Institute's largest and most notable donors are The Charles Koch Institute, The Gill Foundation, The Washington Post, and Craig Newmark Philanthropies. Craig Newmark's donation was intended to help battle disinformation and bias, or, in other words, 'here's a donation, now toe the line'.

Poynter was also awarded a total of USD $488,000 ($129,000 in 2020) from the federal US agency, the National Endowment for Democracy.

According to NED, the grants were meant "To strengthen the practice of fact-checking as a way to promote accountability of policymakers and improve the reliability and accuracy of news and information. The organization will support a network of fact-checking groups throughout the world ... Activities will include a global summit of fact-checkers in Argentina."

Since the launch of the Poynter Institute's IFCN, the organization directly funds or supports more than 100 organizations worldwide through advocacy, training and global events. These then go on to adorn the top pages of Google and any other search engine.

Most alarming is their January 2020 campaign titled "Fighting the Infodemic: The #CoronaVirusFacts Alliance." Therein is a database that has accumulated "falsehoods from fact-checking websites in more than 70 countries and includes articles published in at least 40 languages." By July 2022, Poynter boasts of 3460 vaccine-related, 2503 conspiracy theory related, and 2923 authority/government-related claims having been successfully "debunked".

Below are examples of falsehoods from the 'arbiters of truth' themselves.

Perhaps their claim that mRNA vaccines do not cause vascular, or organ damage could be contrasted by the 4863 serious cardiovascular adverse events (AEs) reported from BNT162b2 Pfizer, 1222 AstraZeneca, Moderna, and other modified RNA products (Kaur et al., 2021).

Myocarditis is now a recognized complication of Covid-19 mRNA vaccines, especially in young adult and adolescent males. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) admit that myocarditis/pericarditis is a potential adverse event of the second-dose mRNA vaccine among individuals 12 to 39 years of age.

The link is further supported by research across North America and Europe (Montgomery et al., 2021; Bozkurt et al., 2021).

A study published on December 6, 2021, in the American Heart Association's journal Circulation, investigated 139 children <21 years old that experienced 140 suspected episodes of myocarditis. They also study found that suspected myocarditis occurred in 97.8% of the children following a modified RNA injection, 94.2% of the suspected episodes followed the Pfizer-BioNTech injection, and 91.4% of the episodes occurred after the second injection.

It's easy to gloss over statistics. But think of Milo Edberg, a 6-year-old child hospitalized with myocarditis two days after receiving Pfizer's Comirnaty.

How can the "fact-checkers" confidently claim that the vaccines are not potentially lethal when there have been 80 fully vaccinated Canadian doctor deaths since the modified RNA jab rollout? There have been 1,638 Canadian doctor deaths from 2019-2022 with an 8-fold increase in those under age 30 from the 2019-2020 average.

By January 22, 2022, alone, Canada had suffered an excess of 7,896 deaths (Statistics Canada). That is a difference of 1,646 from the expected number based on 2020 mortality rates of the same period.

In the U.S., J Scott Davison, CEO of insurance company OneAmerica, stated that his company is seeing the highest death rates now than he's ever seen before since he started in the insurance business — a rise of nearly 40%.

The counter is always that correlation does not imply causation. And yet by the same token, they boldly assert that there is absolutely no correlation to begin with.

Despite the endless reams of judgments made by the Poynter Institute and its ilk, it is obvious that truth is not the objective. As the Maoist critic Yang Jisheng would say, "manufactured news organs are the mouthpieces of political power."

Sleight of Hand

The how of digital repression is also worth noting.

"I learned to think this way when I was a magician," begins AI ethicist and Google whistleblower Tristian Harris. "Magicians start by looking for blind spots, edges, vulnerabilities and limits of people's perception, so they can influence what people do without them even realizing it."

Private corporations and governments alike own comprehensive psychological and behavioural portraits of each of us. They are compiled from our endless posts, searches, comments, and swipes, etc. This 'data exhaust' is then traded on the market like any other commodity.

Once the human experience has been scraped from social and other digital media platforms through effective data mining, it is then analyzed and converted into actionable information.

What enrages you? Why do you trust others? What are the dynamics of information spread between you and your friends?

The answer leads us to the final stage: deception. Our cognitive vulnerabilities are exploited so that we might be persuaded or otherwise manipulated. Among the Magicians' favourite behavioural modification tactics are appeals to emotion, epistemic bubbles, echo chambers, bots, nudging, micro-targeting, censorship, and smear campaigns.

Automation converts us, the observed, into Boolean input data to be parsed by unseen machinery. Just because you are not being violently assaulted does not mean that you aren't being harmed. This is just the mental equivalent of a good old-fashioned baton.

To summarize, decentralized networks of NGOs and obscure government branches fund one another through grants or donations and offer seemingly innocuous training or scholarships. Meanwhile, advanced software designed to manipulate on a personal level ensures large-scale indoctrination.

The last thing a technocrat would want is Canadians' access to truthful information.

We are to instead make like bleating sheep and follow our officials blindly to slaughter. Yet by God's grace, we refuse.

I'd like to leave off with a list of interesting facts, as well as with a quote from Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's The Gulag Archipelago:

"Subverting and weakening" the government could include any idea which did not coincide with or rise to the level of intensity of the ideas expressed in the newspaper on any particular day. After all, anything which does not strengthen must weaken: Indeed, anything which does not completely fit in, coincide, subverts!"

The Lib’s Accused the Con’s of “Spreading Disinformation” for Saying the Government Would Ban Firearms Used by Hunters & Farmers

Trudeau Now Admits That’s Exactly What They’re Doing

By Spencer Fernando | spencerfernando.com

This demonstrates why the government cannot be trusted to define what is and isn’t considered “misinformation” or “disinformation.” Their incentive to define it in a way that expands their own power and punishes their opponents is far too high.

Take a quick look at this clip: https://youtu.be/1j2tZs_9_Q4

CPC Leader Pierre Poilievre accurately describes some of the firearms the Liberals are banning, and accurately notes that those firearms are designed for hunting and are used by Canadian hunters.

Public Safety Minister Marco Mendicino counters by accusing the Conservatives of “spreading disinformation”.

For a few weeks, this has been the Liberal response to criticism of their amendments to Bill C-21, changes that will indeed ban many firearms used by law-abiding Canadian hunters and farmers.

But now, they’ve changed their tune. In a year-end interview, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau admitted the government will be going after “some” hunting guns:

“Our focus now is on saying okay, there are some guns, yes, that we’re going to have to take away from people who were using them to hunt,” Trudeau said. “But, we’re going to also make sure that you’re able to buy other guns from a long list of guns that are accepted that are fine for hunting, whether it’s rifles or shotguns. We’re not going at the right to hunt in this country. We are going at some of the guns used to do it that are too dangerous in other contexts.”

“There are some weapons that are used for hunting that unfortunately fall on the wrong side of the line. Not many, but there are some that are slightly overpowered or have too large a magazine capacity or technical reasons like that,” Trudeau said. “Nobody wants assault-style weapons anywhere in this country. You don’t use them for hunting, and you shouldn’t have them for any other reason.”

Again, this is exactly what the Conservatives said the Liberals were doing, and the Liberals denied it and called it “disinformation.”

For them to now flip and admit they are doing this, without acknowledging that they were lying is the kind of hypocrisy and arrogance we’ve seen time and time again from the Liberal government.

Government can’t be trusted to define what is true. In multiple pieces of legislation, the Liberals are seeking to give themselves the power to define what is and isn’t true.

They want the definition of “disinformation” and “misinformation” to be controlled by the government.

Clearly, that would be disastrous. We have just seen a clear example of the Liberal government accusing their opponents of disinformation, even when their opponents were sharing factually correct information.

Ironically, this means it was the Liberal government who was spreading disinformation.

Do you think they would ever fairly apply the rules to themselves or hold themselves accountable?

Of course not. It will be used selectively, to punish their opponents, silence their critics, and buttress their own propaganda.

This is why we simply cannot trust the government – of any political stripe – with the power to define what is and isn’t true.

That decision must be made by the market, through the countless individual choices and preferences of Canadians.

8 Things We Learned from the Emergencies Act Inquiry

By Tea Lynn Moore

On February 14, 2022, the greatest overreach of Canadian government power took place. On this day, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau invoked the Emergencies Act for the first time in Canadian history.

Through the recent Public Order Emergency Commission (POEC) hearings, reams of government records were released, resulting in a rare look inside the most powerful public offices in Canada. Thousands of pages of text messages, e-mails, meeting minutes, and hand-scribbled notes detailing ministers’ personal fears, private conversations and comments, not meant for public consumption, were released. Here are 8 things we learned from the Emergencies Act Inquiry:

- 1. They almost deployed the army — and even considered using Tanks. Canadian Minister of Justice and Attorney General of Canada, David Lametti, proposed using the army and even tanks to retake the streets of Ottawa, a stark contrast to the hot tubs and bouncy castles that the Freedom Convoy brought in.
- 2. President Biden ordered Trudeau to dismantle the Canadian Freedom Convoy. The inquiry revealed that US President Joe Biden demanded Justin Trudeau stop the Freedom Convoy. Biden cited concerns that US car plants had been having around the border as well as his own concerns about the growing support of protesters seen in US media such as Fox News. Biden’s top economic advisor told Canadian Finance Minister Chrystia Freeland that if the border was not cleared, the United States would reportedly lose $2.9 billion in trade. Freeland emailed staff stating that the White House was “very worried” that their “northeastern car plants will shut down” if Trudeau didn’t stop the convoy. Three days after speaking with Biden, Trudeau invoked the Emergencies Act to clear out the protesters.
- 3. Honking is a form of Violence. In response to being asked why the police chief had claimed there was “violence” at the protest, Interim Ottawa Police Chief Steve Bell responded, “honking... is a form of violence.” A few days after making this claim, defenders of the act inflicted violence on the courtroom by playing a video of a cartoon truck honking for several minutes to illustrate the harm. Ottawa witnesses who testified in defence of the act, claim they suffered from “phantom honking” for months after the truckers left and that they felt like they were living in “The Purge.”

- 4. Hot Tubs and Fireworks are “volatile” Internal documents have revealed that the Ottawa mayor claimed he felt the rally was taking a volatile turn after witnessing “fireworks going off and hot tubs being brought in.”
- 5. Justin Trudeau suffers from selective memory loss. Prime “Misinformationer” Trudeau lied under oath during the Emergencies Act hearing, claiming he never called the unvaccinated names. In a September 2021 interview, Trudeau told a Quebec television station that the unvaccinated “don’t believe in science and are very often misogynistic and racist.”
- 6. Freezing funds was always part of the plan. Cabinet members within the Trudeau government had discussed seizing the bank accounts of Freedom Convoy supporters at the time of invoking the Emergencies Act. Shortly after the act was invoked, Canadian Finance Minister Chrystia Freeland mandated certain bank accounts be frozen under the EA. In total, nearly $8 million in funds from 267 accounts were frozen. Additionally, 170 bitcoin wallets were frozen. Inquiry documents revealed that Freeland was advised by an undisclosed bank that if the people subject to sanctions were labeled “Terrorists”, then the banks could move swiftly.

7. The Deputy Transport Minister wanted to kill the spirit of the Freedom Movement itself. Per Blacklock’s Reporter, Deputy Transport Minister Michael Keenan told police on day 10 of the protest, he wanted the Freedom Convoy crushed because it was the “spiritual source of the protest movement” and is “acting as fuel for the engagement of others.”

8. Both CSIS and NSIA didn’t feel the convoy protest constituted a national security threat under the law, meaning the federal government never met the legal threshold to invoke the Emergencies Act. During the POEC hearings, it was revealed that Canada’s intelligence agency (CSIS) stated they didn’t believe the self-styled Freedom Convoy constituted a threat to national security, according to the definition in the act’s enabling law. Additionally, the Prime Minister’s national security adviser (NSIA) Jody Thomas — along with other officials in a panel — had told commission lawyers that while CSIS did not consider the Freedom Convoy protest to be a threat to national security — a prerequisite for invoking the Emergencies Act — they believed that the definition of a “threat” to security needed to be “reconsidered” to garner permissible use of the Act. In conclusion, the intelligence assessment indicated the federal government never met the legal threshold to invoke the Emergencies Act to clear Ottawa of protesters last winter.

Breaking Through - Solutions for Overcoming the Propaganda Blitz

By Guy Crittenden

If you're reading this, you're accessing Druthers newspaper in either print or digital form. In so doing, you're experiencing a serious strategy to work around government and corporate censorship — an underground publication from resistance fighters who cannot share this information via captured news outlets or censored social media. Similar underground papers exist in Ireland and other countries, for the same reason. As a journalist, I'm grateful for this outlet for my writing. But what about all the people who aren't professional writers? How can they help get the truth out at this crucial moment in history? More voices are desperately needed, to mobilize the population around real-world solutions. The time has passed for awake folk to simply share memes and links among themselves online.

I've turned my attention in recent months toward additional options. My wife and I are looking for land and people with whom to form an off-grid community, grow our own food, and generate our own heat and electricity. But settlements in the woods will easily be picked off by a future totalitarian government, ergo there needs to be more of us.

So our top priority is to get the truth out to more people, many of whom sense something is wrong. We must turn those doubts into conviction that the human family is under attack, at a global scale.

One thing I did — that you can do too — is arrange for the delivery of this newspaper to every mailbox in my local area. This caused a stir with media and politicians local to Magnetawan, many of whom had simply never encountered an alternative to the mainstream narrative.

Pro Tip: Organize a fundraising dinner or dance with your local freedom community and use some of the proceeds to pay for the delivery of the paper to local postal codes. (Contact Druthers and they'll take care of all the details.)

Here's another idea, and again, it's something anyone can do. I purchased some Canadian car flags (four in total) from Canadian Tire. Now everywhere I drive, I'm signalling to folks that we must stand up for our country, its laws, constitution and Bill of Rights. You may have noticed people on the highway doing the same. We often honk to one another and chat in coffee shops and gas stations. It's a subculture of its own. The flags have triggered many conversations between myself and strangers.

Here's a Pro Tip: You can purchase erasable "window markers" at Canadian Tire or other stores, and write colourful messages on your car window. I stick with messages like No New World Order! or Who is James Topp? to get people thinking. My car is now a moving billboard for freedom.

Another strategy I use to get past censorship is wearing printed T-shirts. Some have a humorous message, such as Proud Member of the Fringe Minority with Unacceptable Views. When the government started jabbing children, I was inspired to take bolder action.

On the last Saturday before Christmas, I walked with a friend through the crowded Georgian Mall — the largest in Barrie, Ontario — wearing a white T-shirt emblazoned with warnings about risks from the COVID injections. Reactions differed among the New World Order citizens shopping in New Normal Canada, from two teenage girls who gave us a thumbs-up sign, to the registration staff at a COVID injection clinic who called security when I attempted to dissuade a mother from signing in her young son.

I've worn the shirt many times in Tim Hortons where I purposely stand or sit in spots where the lettering is visible. You might think I'd attract negative attention, but most interactions have thus far been positive, with folks saying, "I like your T-shirt" or stopping to ask questions.

to include an information sheet with a list of vaccine side effects on one side and a list of detox strategies and resources on the other. I could just as easily wear T-shirts and hand out brochures about transhumanism, the danger of central bank digital currency and digital IDs, or the uselessness of masks and lockdowns. (Just print and distribute whatever you're comfortable with.)

And here's another Pro Tip: Instead of just printing these brochures for myself, I distributed them to friends and members of my local freedom pod. Better still, I shared this idea on Facebook and other social media platforms and offered to send people the original PDF files, so they can print and distribute them in their area. I also sent the Word files so they can alter the text to suit local situations. The response was overwhelming and I received private messages and emails from people across Canada and as far away as Australia.

Speaking of "freedom pods," this is another idea you can implement locally that I gleaned from Derrick Broze of The Last American Vagabond podcast. Broze's idea was that people organize in "cells" of eight to meet regularly and organize resistance, and discuss prepper topics, like walkie-talkies, food canning, and bulk orders for survival gear. Our regular gatherings allow us to socialize with like-minded people, share resources, and plan protests and other actions.

Friends from my group recently joined me at a local injection site where I served a Notice of Liability (NoL) to the head nurse after she failed to provide proper informed consent (when she assumed I was there to get poked). Serving NoLs is another free activity in which you can engage and potentially make a difference. These can be served at injection sites (including drug stores), school boards, government offices, etc. I even served one to our local police superintendent. The purpose of the NoL is to inform the recipient of the real risks of the mRNA gene therapy such that they can no longer say "I didn't know" when Nuremberg-type trials begin. And in any case, they get people thinking, especially since the NoLs I've downloaded from the Stand Up Canada website allow me to register the recipient's name on a database for future reference. Action4Canada also offers an extensive selection of NoLs.

Pro Tip: Instead of delivering the NoL in a threatening manner, I offer it as a kind of Get Out Of Jail Free card. As of the date served, the recipient has the ammunition to refuse certain orders, and at least offer people true informed consent.

How about printing and putting up posters? I suggest folks use paste and not staples, so they're not easily pulled down. Stickers can be ordered online with your custom message. The White Rose channel on Telegram is a great resource for stickers as well. I honestly don't understand why every town and city isn't plastered with these already, as well as children's lunchboxes. I'm old enough to recall the extensive use of posters and stickers in the 1960s and '70s to oppose the Vietnam War and promote everything from women's equality to saving whales. Old-school strategies worked then, and they can be effective once more.

Governments and organizations affiliated with the United Nations and the World Economic Forum have spent billions promoting surveillance capitalism, technocracy and transhumanism to an unsuspecting public. You now have easy and affordable ideas to counter their narratives. It's time to take action! And I hope to encounter more of you on the highways and in the shopping malls with your flags, T-shirts and homemade brochures!

Myocarditis in Kids up by a Whopping 117 Times in Canada

By Christie Pritchard

A hospital insider from The IWK Health Centre, a major pediatric hospital and trauma center in Halifax, Nova Scotia providing care to maritime youth, children and women, says they have seen 27 myocarditis cases in kids under 18 in a recent 6-week period. Normally, they see 2 cases in an entire year. That's an increase of 117 times the normal rate!

These numbers reflect the CDC's own data: In 2021, the CDC found that males aged 12-15, showed an increase between 23.5 and 117 times. At the time this data was collected (August 2021), only 32% of teens in the US were vaccinated, so, this would mean that vaccinated males aged 12-15 had an observed incidence of up to 366 times the expected rate of myopericarditis — two distinct heart conditions occurring simultaneously. The 16-17 age group observed an even higher incidence.

IWK is not the only health center to report an increased incidence of Myocarditis, Pericarditis and Myopericarditis. A study published to JAMA looking at 40 hospital records in the US titled "Myocarditis and Pericarditis After Vaccination for COVID-19" (Diaz et al.) found the rates went up even in adults who are less likely to suffer this side effect (see graph on p.7).

The baseline rate of Myocarditis in kids is 1 per 100,000, at this rate, given that Canadian children's vaccination rate is sitting at 45%, IWK's data would suggest that we are seeing 2.6 per 1,000 vaccinated kids getting Myocarditis, although, it's probably more since this is a passive observation. In August, a Thailand study (Mansanguan et al.) showed 29.24% of kids sustain a cardiac injury of some sort from the vaccines, and 1% developed myo and/or pericarditis. Studies like this, where all

Bill Gates Planning on “Catastrophic Contagion”, Capable of Killing Young Adults and Children

By Ethan Huff | NaturalNews.com

On Oct. 23, 2022, unbeknownst to many, billionaire eugenicist Bill Gates held another pandemic exercise called “Catastrophic Contagion”, working on future plans for another deadly disease that specifically targets young people and children.

In partnership with the World Health Organization (WHO) and the Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation held the “pandemic tabletop exercise” at the Grand Challenges Annual Meeting in Brussels.

Similar to his infamous Event 201 pandemic exercise, (naturalnews.com/2020-01-29-bill-gates-pandemic-exercise-coronavirus.html) which announced the Wuhan coronavirus (Covid-19) scandemic before it happened, the Catastrophic Contagion event centered around “a pandemic with a higher fatality rate than COVID-19 ... disproportionately affecting children and young people.”

Ten current and former “health ministers” and “senior public health officials” from Senegal, Rwanda, Nigeria, Angola, Liberia, Singapore, India, and Germany participated in the event alongside Gates. (Related: A U.S. patent shows (naturalnews.com/2021-06-29-darpa-built-covid-help-bill-gates-who.html) that Gates was directly involved in the creation of covid, as was the WHO and DARPA.)

We are told that each of these participants was presented with the potential scenario and asked how they would respond in terms of making “urgent policy decisions with limited information in the face of uncertainty.”

“Each problem and choice had serious health, economic, and social ramifications,” a document about the event states.

Gates wants more “laws and procedures” to put an end to freedom during the next plandemic

Gates has repeatedly talked about “lessons learned” from the covid plandemic, the suggestion being that next time — and there really does appear to be a next time already in the works — globalist leaders will have the opportunity to execute tyranny with more precision.

“Countries should prioritize efforts to increase trust in government and public health; improve public health communication efforts; increase the resiliency of populations to misleading information; and reduce the spread of harmful misinformation,” the exercise documents explain.

“In future pandemics, we should continue to expect even more major disruptions from misinformation and disinformation.”

The WHO, it further states, should continue to be propped up as “a globally trusted source” for all information, which it should distribute “widely” around the world. This alone, however, will not be enough to stop the spread of “misinformation.”

“Countries need to collaborate to anticipate that threat and prepare to combat it with their own laws and procedures,” the documents further state.

“Just as many types of economic and societal harms can be anticipated and accounted for in pandemic preparedness plans, so too can predictable false or misleading health messaging. Concertedly exploring ways to address this phenomenon on a national level in advance of the next pandemic will be crucial to saving lives.”

In order for the next plandemic to work, in other words, the skeptics must be silenced. There cannot be any dissent allowed to proliferate. All messaging and information must be totally controlled by the globalists, otherwise it will fizzle out in the end.

“This is his bugbear / scare story to facilitate and create a global biosecurity state,” wrote a commenter about how Gates “dominates the WHO,” which is right now seeming to create “a binding, trans-national agreement to require actual sovereign nation states to surrender power to it” with the infamous Pandemic Treaty.

Originally published at NaturalNews.com

For instance, too much “misinformation” spread during covid that led large numbers of people to say no to masks, social distancing, and the “vaccines.” This hampered the plans of the globalists who intended for everyone to obey without question.

The plan next time is to clamp down heavily on the flow of free speech to prevent all dissent and skepticism. Gates wants government officials to really crack down on all freedom during the next go-around to ensure that his depopulation goals are achieved.

teenagers were screened, will always find more cases than passive systems, like the reporting system here in Canada where doctors fill out a form after a child has been properly diagnosed. There are potentially a number of cases of children with chest pain or fatigue that are never brought to the attention of the healthcare system or are misdiagnosed and are thus never captured in the statistics.

Research from a JAMA article titled, Myocarditis Cases Reported After mRNA-Based COVID-19

Vaccination in the US From December 2020 to August 2021 by Oster et al. also found 12-15 year-olds experienced the heart condition at a 133x higher than expected rate. The data is overwhelming.

Either way, that’s a lot of kids developing myocarditis, pericarditis, or both as a result of the vaccines. You would think the manufacturers would think this is a problem, but they don’t.

If two car owners die as a result of poor manufacturing, the car manufacturer does a recall and asks people to stop using the car. The reason for this is simple: liability. But with these vaccines, as with all vaccines, there is no liability, so there is no need to set a stopping condition. The pharmaceutical companies have no problem injuring hundreds of thousands of kids and it simply makes no difference to the company.

Pfizer, for instance, never bothered looking into Myopericarditis rates in young people. That’s right, the Pfizer documents that Pfizer had originally asked the courts to conceal for 75 years revealed that they never bothered looking into Myopericarditis rates in young people. In the documents released, Pfizer only looked at adults and most side effects were not considered to be vaccine-related unless they occurred within 24 hours, whereas on average, Myocarditis typically presents within 1-4 days. (see JAMA article by Oster et al, Jan 25, 2022.)

SHADOWBANNED ON ALL SOCIAL MEDIA GET IT BEFORE YOU CAN'T!

REVEALED: Twitter’s Secret Blacklist

By Jefferey Jaxen via TheHighwire.com

“Twitter once had a mission “to give everyone the power to create and share ideas and information instantly, without barriers.” Along the way, barriers nevertheless were erected.” -@bariweiss

Part two of the Twitter Files release has just been set free on the platform by American journalist Bari Weiss. The latest installment tells of a secret internal blacklist created by shadowy Twitter teams to “prevent disfavoured tweets from trending, and actively limit the visibility of entire accounts or even trending topics...without informing users.” writes Weiss.

Among those tagged by Twitter for removal was Great Barrington Declaration author Dr. Jay Bhattacharya.

Stanford’s Dr. Jay Bhattacharya (@DrJBhattacharya), a world-renowned scientist, had argued that Covid lockdowns would harm children. Twitter secretly placed him on a “Trends Blacklist,” which prevented his tweets from trending.

The three Great Barrington Declaration authors were also subject to a chilling, high-profile hit job from top government officials according to FOIA emails from October 2020.

A personal email from then-NIH director Francis Collins to Dr. Fauci during The Declaration’s public rollout in October of 2020 saw the pair scrambling to censor the three ‘fringe epidemiologists’ as Collins referred to them at the time.

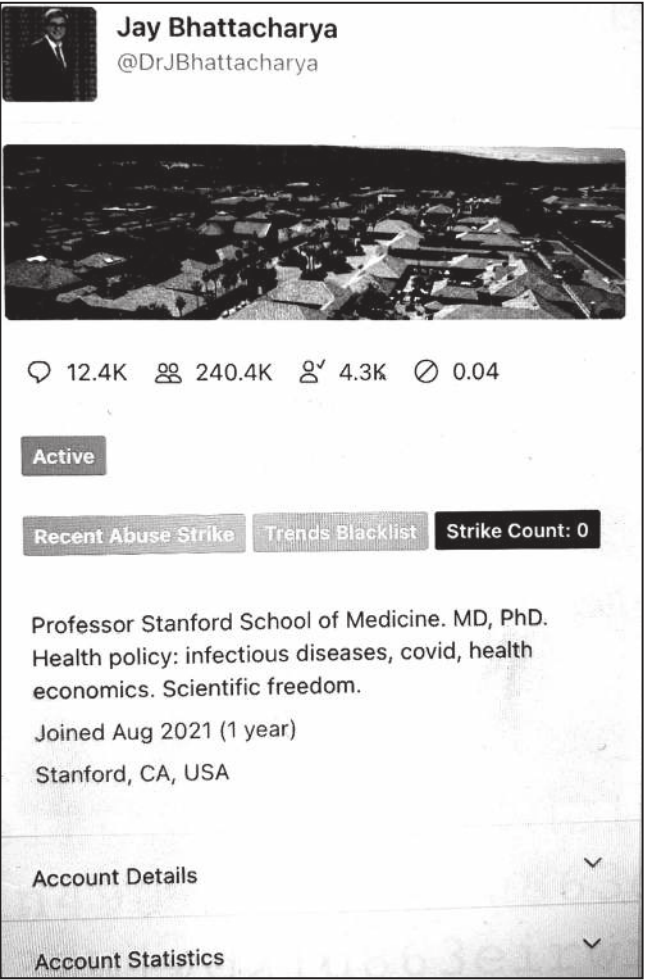

”There needs to be a quick and devastating published take down of its premises,” Dr. Collins wrote. “Is it underway?” he asked on October 8, 2020 — four days after The Declaration was published publicly.

According to further ‘Twitter Files’ posts by Weiss, other accounts were also tagged along a select political spectrum by Twitter’s internal censorship activities despite denials by the platform’s leadership.

What has been known until now as ‘shadow banning’ was called ‘visual filtering’ behind closed doors at Twitter, reports Weiss. It appears that Twitter leadership up to CEO Jack Dorsey ran cover for these teams and their operations as evidenced by his 2018 tweet: “We do rank tweets by default to make Twitter more immediately relevant (which can be flipped off). More on ranking signals:”

All these censorship-based decisions were made by the shadowy Twitter teams without the input or knowledge of users.

“Censorship was used to create an illusion of consensus” -Dr. Jay Bhattacharya

Died Suddenly: A Gigantic Conspiracy Theory Frittata?

By John A. Manley

Always eager (and often amused) to see the other side of the story, I found a Forbes review (forbes.com/sites/brucelee/2022/11/22/new-died-suddenly-film-pushes-unfounded-depopulation-claims-about-covid-19-vaccine) of the new documentary Died Suddenly (redvoicemedia.com/2022/11/world-premier-died-suddenly). It’s written by a man (at least, I assume so, it’s hard to know these days) named Bruce Lee who describes himself as a “digital health expert” (that’s someone who creates tech for big medicine).

Lee sums the film up as “a mish-mosh of clips, audio bytes, interviews, and other things often taken completely out of context and cooked together like a gigantic conspiracy theory frittata.”

Clever simile, but otherwise the article was lacking in any real criticism.

Lee claims, for example, that “you can’t really tell the identities of many of the people featured in the film since there is relatively little use of captions.” I don’t know which film he was watching. There was an abundance of captions and credits in Died Suddenly. If I remember correctly, only two embalmers had kept their identities hidden (because, I assume, they were concerned they, or their business, may also die suddenly for speaking out).

One rare piece of valid criticism in the 1500-word article was that “the film shows images of people falling over who didn’t actually end up dying.”

I, too, had spotted the clip of comedian Heather McDonald collapsing on stage (youtube.com/watch?v=ctPViK3LK-o). She did survive the resulting cracked skull, but only because an ambulance was called and rushed her to the ER in time. Later, both she and her doctor attributed her collapse to her COVID-19 injections.

Still, yes, I agree, it was misleading to use that clip under the “died suddenly” theme. Likewise, showing a clip of NBA Keyontae Johnson collapsing (but not dying) on the court (espn.com/mens-college-basketball/story/_/id/30828219/florida-forward-keyontae-johnson-collapse-unrelated-covid-19-family-says) prior to the vaccine roll out does hurt the film’s credibility.

Otherwise the Forbes article does not deny people are dying in record numbers or that these unknown massive fibrous clots are being extracted from their circulatory systems. The “digital health expert” simply argues that the fact these strange deaths have appeared in correlation with the roll-out of the vaccine is not proof of causation.

Lastly, Lee attacks producer Stew Peters for not being a “medical expert or some type of scientist.” No, Peters is a journalist. Journalists investigate. The author of the Forbes article should take note. He also says Peters is not being “nice” by suggesting that a genocidal serial killer should be hanging from a noose. Okay, so he’s not nice to psychopaths, big deal.

Lastly, I do agree with Bruce Lee that viewers of the one-hour film should not “expect to see much science suddenly.” The film presents facts and evidence (vaccinated people and their unborn babies are dying suddenly from strange clots) and presents a plausible theory (that maybe it’s the vaccine). The film, however, does not put that theory to the test or even provide analysis of the clots themselves. At one-hour and eight minutes the film appears to “end suddenly.” I assume a sequel is forthcoming.

But for an urgently needed documentary, I think Died Suddenly did a phenomenal job that should be viewed, discussed and shared with God’s speed. Because, as the funeral director suggests at the end of the film, the Devil is after us.

John C. A. Manley is the author of the full-length novel, Much Ado About Corona: Dystopian Love Story. He is currently working on the sequel, Brave New Normal, while living in Stratford Ontario, with his wife Nicole and son Jonah. Fact: Nanocircuits capable of in-vivo assembly are not mere science fiction. In the recently published textbook, Tunable Hydrogels (2021), material scientists and synthetic biologists detailed the use of environmentally sensitive polymeric nanosystems in medicine. These are biocompatible substances that can encapsulate and release drugs into the body in a controlled manner. They can be thermos-, photo-, electromagnetic, pH, or biomolecule responsive. Genetically engineered hydrogels were especially praised for their versatility and programmability.

See Advances in Biochemical Eng./Biotechnology (Volume 178, ISBN: 978-3-030-76768-6).

Fact: Embalmers across North America, Australia, and Europe have found long, white, fibrous, clots within 50% to 70% of corpses. The clots are significantly lacking in magnesium, potassium, and iron, suggesting that, unlike normal post-mortem clots, they were not composed of blood.

Fact: Biological warfare epidemiologist Dr. Meryl Nass, international human rights lawyer Dr. Francis Boyle, previous Pfizer CEO Dr. Michael Yeadon, Cambridge University graduate and pathologist Dr. Roger Hodkinson, and the Great Barrington Declaration signatories: each are among the plethora of scientific, medical and legal professionals that disagree with the official Covid-19 narrative. They have all been censored and many attempts have been made to discredit them.

Do Viruses Even Exist?

By Timm Stein

There’s a lot of talk about vaccines, their effectiveness, their toxicity, and the associated health risks. But are vaccines actually justified? A common opinion is that vaccines are a medical miracle that protect the human body from a variety of viruses that apparently roam planet Earth. For that reason, a multitude of vaccines are regularly and continuously injected into human beings starting in infancy. This article explores the common claim that pathogenic (which means disease-causing) viruses exist. Where did this claim originate? What is the definition of a virus? And if it can be shown that no virus has ever been proven to exist, would that perhaps destroy the entire basis of the pharmaceutical industry and the corrupt medical establishment? Who would benefit from that? We all would.

By now it should be clear to most readers that the pharmaceutical industry needs continuously unhealthy human beings to remain profitable. A healthy human being does not generate any profit for Big Pharma, which in turn means that most physicians can’t get paid and become redundant. A large percentage of regular visits to family doctors is made up of people that show symptoms such as cough, fever, sneezing, runny nose, fatigue, and skin rashes. The physician compares that to what he or she was told in medical school and then writes a prescription for medications that will supposedly help ease the symptoms. Often, the diagnosis is something along the lines of “you have a viral infection,” or “you caught the flu virus that’s going around.” What if that was complete nonsense? What if you were fully capable of healing your own body if you only listened to it? The human body is a magnificent, biological system of complex processes that all work flawlessly together, and in harmony with millions of bacteria. Problems only start to occur when there is intervention from the outside through toxic medications, processed foods, toxic substances such as sugar, alcohol and caffeine, and also viruses. Hmm, let’s take a closer look at viruses.

The Latin term “virus” means poison. That is its definition. It was used by scientists working under Louis Pasteur (who committed scientific fraud) in the 19th century to classify material that could not be classified as bacteria. The thought process was that if it can’t be classified as bacteria, then it must be another single organism that causes disease. It was never even considered that the symptoms may not be a disease at all, but instead a normal biological process within the body. In June of 1954, a dubious publication suggested that the death of a tissue sample within a test tube was seen as possible evidence for the presence of a virus. On December 10, 1954, the author of this publication [John Franklin Enders] was awarded the Nobel Prize for Medicine, and subsequently this questionable theory became scientific fact and dogma. To this day, nobody has been allowed to question this theory. What scientific principles and control experiments was that publication in 1954 based on? A true scientist must abide by scientific principles and rules of scientific conduct, including control experiments. But what are control experiments? In the lab, virologists

(scientists that investigate viruses) prepare a sample by first removing nutrients, which the cells depend on, and then adding toxic antibiotics. They do this, they claim, in order to make the cells “hungry” so that they absorb the alleged virus more easily, and to exclude the possibility that bacteria could cause the death of the sample. It should be noted that at this point the sample has been tremendously

They ask a computer to invent it for them. A simple analogy to what virologists perform in their labs is the following: imagine that you would find a hoof and a horn somewhere in the forest. You would tell your computer that you have a hoof and a horn, and then you would ask your computer to fill in the gaps that are missing between the hoof and the horn (this is what virologists call “alignment”; it is literally the making up of material that is not there). Your computer then tells you that the hoof and the horn are most likely from a unicorn. And on top of it, your computer presents you with a beautiful image of a unicorn. You now take this as scientific proof that unicorns exist. Sounds rather unscientific, doesn’t it?

But then how do virologists know what a virus looks like? They don’t. Electron microscopes are not capable of taking photographs. They only show a single snapshot of dying tissue and cells at one specific moment in time. Electron microscopes are not like optical microscopes where a sample can be observed in real-time. The images you have been shown on tv and in magazines are computer-generated 3D images and do not reflect any real tissue samples, germs, or cells. Like so many other things, it has likely all been a lie. From HIV to Polio, Hepatitis, Measles, Rabies, and all others. (spoiler: even the so-called Tetanus pathogen (germ) has never been proven to exist)

Where does that leave you? I hope with many questions and a thirst for more information. The book Virus Mania referenced below is a great read! But wait, we still have one important question:

But then what makes me sick? That is a great question, and to fully understand the answer we have to really step out of the concept of “sickness.” That kind of language is rather negative and drags us down even further. We are led to believe that whenever we experience a headache, fatigue, fever, sneezing, runny nose, or a cough, we should feel afraid, helpless and confused, and we should take medications and seek the opinion of a physician, who will often give us more medications. Instead, once you understand that each “symptom” you experience is part of a preprogrammed, inner biological detoxification process that is closely tied to your brain and your mind, your perception of “disease” completely changes, and even deeply negative terms such as “incurable” and “malignant” lose their destructive effect. Dr. Ryke Geerd Hamer made important observations in 1981 and pioneered what is known as Universal Biology or New Germanic Medicine. Once you start listening to your body and understand how it functions, and once you understand how each of these processes has a natural, biological reason, you will lose the fear and likely ditch the flawed Western medicine model for good. The book Universal Biology referenced below is a great introduction. More in-depth knowledge should be discussed in a future article.

weakened and poisoned. In the next step, virologists add a sample (usually blood or saliva) taken from an allegedly infected individual. The subsequent death of the initial, sterilized sample (the so-called cytopathic effect) is then proclaimed to have been caused by the alleged virus. However, no virologist has bothered to complete an experiment in parallel, in which no blood or saliva from an allegedly infected individual is added, for the sole purpose of ruling out that it was not the antibiotics, for example, that caused the death of the initial sample. That is what a control experiment is. Dr. Stefan Lanka recently performed these control experiments and confirmed that the initial sample dies in the same manner when not injected with an allegedly infected sample. As a result, the concept of virology has been entirely dismantled. This has since been confirmed by other, independent laboratories and scientists around the world. Even Dr. Michael Yeadon, former Vice President and Chief Science Officer of Pfizer, has concluded that respiratory (which means “affecting your airways”) viruses have not been proven to exist. There is an abundance of documented evidence and testimony that no virology lab has ever conducted the required control experiments. Why not? For one, virologists never questioned the dogma after the wrongful award of the Nobel Prize for Medicine. In addition, virologists have claimed that it would be too expensive to conduct such control experiments.

At this point, it should be mentioned that this mixture of dying material, toxic antibiotics, bovine fetal serum (a substance that is sourced from the blood of unborn calves at the slaughterhouse, which is highly unethical, excruciatingly painful for the unborn calf and the cow and leads to the death of both) is also used as “live” vaccine that allegedly contains “weakened” virus.

Aluminum, mercury and formaldehyde are often added. These are highly toxic substances! If such a vaccine was to be injected directly into the bloodstream instead of the muscle tissue, a child would die immediately because the body would not be able to cope with the poisoning.

But then how are virologists able to determine the genetic sequence (the gene footprint) of an alleged virus?

Good News Tidbits

- A US judge approved a multimillion-dollar settlement on December 19 for workers who were fired by an Illinois healthcare system for refusing to get a COVID-19 vaccine. About 500 workers who were terminated or, after seeing their exemption requests denied, got a COVID-19 vaccine, will receive compensation as part of the $10.3 million settlement.
- Alberta Premier Danielle Smith commits to banning K-12 school mask mandates
- New York Supreme Court reinstates all employees fired for being unvaccinated and orders back pay since, as the ruling put it, “being vaccinated does not prevent an individual from contracting or transmitting COVID-19”
- Ontario parents are getting off the COVID-19 vaccine treadmill! Less than 1% of Ontario toddlers (6 mos-5 years old) received their first dose during their first week of eligibility, representing a 92% drop in uptake when compared to other under-age cohorts.
- An Australian COVID poll with more than 50,000 respondents finds that more than half of respondents said they regret getting vaccinated.
- Twitter reinstates the accounts of medical freedom advocates Dr. Robert Malone & Dr. Peter McCullough along with numerous other previously censored voices.

The Revolution is Exploding All Over China

By Stop World Control

Unprecedented civil uprising is occurring in China. The government had locked citizens in their apartments and welded the doors shut. Nobody could get out. When fire broke out in an apartment, the people couldn't escape, as the doors were welded, and all the people living in the apartment were burned alive — including children. "For your safety!"

Many Chinese people starve to death from being shut in their homes, with barred doors, for months on end — up to 90 days! No shopping for food allowed. No social contact allowed. No walks allowed. Total imprisonment. "For your safety!"

Millions have been imprisoned in quarantine camps for months — no way out. Toddlers are being kidnapped from their parents and locked up in camps. Millions suffer inside these small cabins, with only one tiny window — no social contact. "For your safety!"

This extreme tyranny is at last igniting massive awakening and revolts in China. We have to understand that revolting in China is almost unheard of, as the population is so brainwashed. This has caused the CCP to push its limits as to what kind of torture they can inflict on their people... and they went too far. Western journalists from The China Show (<https://www.youtube.com/@TheChinaShow>) who have been living in China for years, and know China's culture inside out, state that nothing like this has EVER occurred in all of China's history. This is much greater than all protests in the past. It's a sign of something BIG!

The revolution is exploding all over China: in big cities and small villages, in universities and low-grade schools. Officials are being kidnapped from government buildings, the people's liberation army has been deployed, and police stations are being attacked... this is a sign of a major shift in the minds of the Chinese people.

The local experts from The China Show explain that many unprecedented events are happening. For example, when people are arrested by Chinese police, usually the surrounding citizens step back and allow it to happen — to save themselves. Now, to the surprise of these journalists, the crowd is fighting the police and military, and dragging the detainees out of their hands. That's unheard of in China.

In the powerful documentary REVOLUTION you can see how the Chinese people rescue a man from the hands of the police. This signals a critical change in the Chinese people. Everybody has reached the point where they have nothing left to lose - and are rising up in power.

BitChute Video Streaming Platform Under Attack by Big Banks

By Ray Vahey | BitChute.com

Two years ago, BitChute became the target of an activist group that attempted to shut us down by pressuring our suppliers. As a result, we lost some server hosting, our office space, and other suppliers. We also lost our bank account with HSBC. A bank account we had held in good standing and without any issues since we launched in 2017.

We initially tried to open a new account with a different bank and transfer our money. However, the new bank rejected us just as the funds had reached them. Our money was returned to HSBC, but we could no longer access it, and even today, we still have not retrieved our money from HSBC.

In August 2021, after failing to get a resolution through the HSBC complaints process, we requested arbitration through the UK's banking Ombudsman. We were informed of a long wait due to Covid, which had resulted in many bank-related problems for businesses. It wouldn't be until November 2022 that our case would of interests and backgrounds. We require that users only upload legal content that complies with our terms and community guidelines, and we have a team of support staff that ensure that is the case.

BitChute is pro freedom of expression, a universal human right. Furthermore, censorship and deplatforming are poor ways to tackle societal problems as they merely create echo chambers that can lead to bigger problems in the long run. It is important to allow people to express all ideas as this exposes them to immediate opposition and allows for a public deconstruction of any flaws they may contain. If you are against bigotry or racism or hateful ideologies, you should be for freedom of expression.

Since arbitration started we have provided many details including the bank account where HSBC could send our money. Within a week of handing over that information, that new bank account was suspended without notice. We informed the Ombudsman that we do not want to give HSBC additional bank accounts and prefer any transfer from HSBC use a third party such as escrow, even a bag of cash would do. A necessary action that will likely lengthen the process.

It's happening again...

That happened 19 days ago, (more by the time you read this) and we still have not been able to get our money from that bank even though we have informed them that we need it urgently to pay bills. It's not clear for what reason they are keeping it.

Now, nearly at the end of 2022, two different banks have our money, HSBC has held it for almost two years.

About us

BitChute is a politically neutral company that has a diverse community

"Reputational risk"

In recent years financial institutions have been using "reputational risk" to stealthily engage in political discrimination. If a financial institution takes action against a lawful company for its commitment to freedom of expression, that should be a very real reputational and material risk for the financial institution.

The idea that people or companies can be excluded from the monetary system and have their assets frozen over an opinion or lawful actions is despicable. This discrimination must be wholeheartedly rejected if we are to keep free and open societies.

Please spread the word about the unfairness of this, and share this anywhere you can. Let content creators know this is a worthy topic for a video. If you would like to contact HSBC about this or for any reason you can find their contact details here: <https://www.hsbc.co.uk/contact/>

I wish you all and your loved ones a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and any other holiday you might celebrate.

Calling Out and Crushing “The Great Lie” in Court

By Chris Weisdorf

Yes, I know what you’re thinking: the courts cannot be trusted to do the right thing. Over the past 34 months, they’ve failed miserably to protect our most basic- and previously cherished- rights. They’ve cast aside our lives, liberty and property in favour of “legislative supremacy” and our newly cherished scientific dictatorship. And they’ve failed to uphold the supreme law of Canada: our Charter of Rights and Freedoms. To quote ‘Henry Hill’ from Goodfellas (1990): “This is the Bad Time.”

Our legal and political system fell into a trap very early on and delegated all of its powers to “the experts”. The politicians, our legal representatives, deferred to these so-called experts and their unchallenged doomsday projections. Our courts also deferred to the same experts, starting with the Supreme Court of the United States at the end of May 2020.

In effect, the legislative and judicial branches of our government concentrated all of their powers into the executive branch. Back in 1788, the Founding Fathers of the United States called this concentration of power- the elimination of what is known as the Separation of Powers- the very definition of tyranny.

So, is all hope lost?
To answer in three words: No. No. And NO.

Whether a narcissist, a sociopath, even a psychopath, when the abuser oppresses and brutalizes one or many, there can only be one response: hit them back. And since this is a war, be it the first non-shooting war in human history, the battlefield is not in the streets or the fields. It is in our minds. That means we must hit back with words, audio and with video. We must win hearts and minds with reason, emotion and passion. That means your (former) friends, family, neighbours and co-workers. One at a time.

The fact is, the evidence and the law are stacked in our favour, and they always have been. Unfortunately, the legal profession is very specialized and any legitimate, dissenting experts have been bullied and intimidated into silence. A ruinous combination when attempting to make a case against the greatest scientific, medical and accounting fraud in human history. Read: constitutional lawyers cannot argue a personal injury or medical malpractice case, and a cardiologist cannot give an expert opinion on masks or lockdowns.

“Everyone has a plan until they get punched in the face.” ~ Mike Tyson

Who remembers the very first business owner who challenged the lockdowns? The first business owner in the history of North America to ever be arrested for violating a public health order? That would be Adam Skelly and his Adamson Barbecue restaurants in Toronto in November 2020. He was the only one who stood up and Just Said NO. He had no plan. He didn’t consult any lawyers- and even if he had, no one could have predicted what would happen next.

The City of Toronto and the Government of Ontario ganged up on Adam and came down on him like ten tonnes of bricks. Six, separate legal proceedings were brought down heavily on top of his head, his business and his family.

He was heavily ticketed under the Reopening Ontario Act (ROA) for defying the lockdown. He then received an HPPA section 22 order made by Toronto’s Medical Officer of Health (MOH). When those failed, the MOH illegally seized Adam’s Etobicoke location without a court order, as required by law. 253 police officers with cavalry descended upon his Barbecue Rebellion, arrested him and threw him into prison for a day and a half. He was charged under the federal Criminal Code for trespassing on his own property, mischief on his own property (for breaking into his restaurant premises), and obstructing a peace officer due to his defiance.

They didn’t stop there. The Government of Ontario then piled on and obtained an injunction under section 9 of the ROA. The City of Toronto provided notice they would sue Adam to collect the $187,000 of costs used to call the police on him for daring to assert his Charter rights. They followed up on that threat and sued him the following fall.

In effect, the legislative and judicial branches of our government concentrated all of their powers into the executive branch

The cherry on top was the City going after both Adam, and his father as the property owner, for operating his Leaside location without a business licence. Left unmentioned, of course, was how there were many businesses caught in a regulatory lurch as created by the City under the previous licensing regime and the one that was to replace it. It was cheaper to simply pay $300 in fines every year for three years than to pay many times as much to have legal counsel specializing in municipal and administrative law to attempt to resolve the matter. Many opted for the former.

That stack of tickets, at last view, was literally the thickness of a phone book. By-law enforcement vehicles would sit parked outside his Leaside location to ticket him daily- even as he was out of province for several months.

Adam was the very first person to be brutalized by the tyrannical COVID regime and to personally fall prey to the narrative, which is referred to here as the Great Lie. This is a critically important point, without which sanity, fairness, justice and the rule of law would have long been restored.

All other arrests, persecutions and bail conditions of pastors, business owners and Trucker Convoy participants followed the Adam Skelly template and precedent.

The Great Lie was officially sanctioned by the Supreme Court of the United States on May 29, 2020, in the South Bay Pentecostal Church v. Newsom case which held, in a 5-4 decision, that COVID-19 is a deadly pandemic caused by a novel coronavirus with no cure, that can be spread by completely healthy people with no symptoms. The experts, they held, could not be “second-guessed” by an “unelected federal judiciary”.

The rest of the courts all across North America, including the Ontario Court of Appeal, took “judicial notice” that COVID is the deadliest pandemic in a century, that no lasting immunity could be formed against it, and that “variants of concern” would constantly develop to evade immunity and any lasting treatment.

“Don’t try to be a great man. Just be a man, and let history make its own judgements.”

-Star Trek: First Contact (1996)

Adam Skelly has called out the Great Lie and done the legal equivalent of shouting it from the rooftops. Every tenet has been challenged, which includes all of the above, along with RT-PCR testing accuracy and validity, asymptomatic transmission and retransmission, the total lack of efficacy of the lockdowns and no cost-benefit analyses ever performed, the statistical lies used to classify and re-classify COVID “cases”, and the fact that reasonable alternatives to emergency measures exist, and have long existed.

That last point is absolutely critical, for if any reasonable alternatives to emergency measures exist, emergency measures may not be invoked. At all. And any existing measures must be repealed at once. These provisions exist in provincial law for Ontario in the EMCPA and ROA, federal law in the Quarantine Act, and federal United States Code for the Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) for medical products. These reasonable alternatives include hydroxychloroquine and zinc, ivermectin, vitamin D and focused protection of the vulnerable population.

Adam’s challenge against the Reopening Ontario Act is the only lawsuit on the continent which demonstrates the longtime existence of reasonable alternatives to COVID measures, with six experts in their respective fields submitting reports to that effect and addressing many other points. This was back in April/May of 2021. The government cannot ever plead ignorance and say that they never knew “back then”.

The Great Lie must be called out at every opportunity in every forum, be it legal, political, medical, or scientific. Shout it off the rooftops. Don’t ever let them forget it. Don’t ever let up.

Join us. Resist. NEVER GIVE IN.

Reader Response: Some Different Observations of Nicaragua

By Pat and Jashelle Kitcheman, and Jason and Michelle Reay

We are writing this in response to the article “Observations From a Canadian Visiting Nicaragua” in your November, 2022 issue. Our family has spent a significant amount of time in Latin America. We aren’t resort go-ers. I can only assume that Chris (who wrote the article) is living in a posh ex-pat community in Nicaragua.

The lack of crime, police presence and lack of audible sirens is likely due to the fact that everyone is afraid of the police and the Ortega Regime.

Nicaragua had their own freedom protests in 2018 like we had in February. People protesting the erosion of their civil rights. Theirs ended up with over 2000 wounded and roughly 330 dead at the hands of the police and armed government groups. The police subsequently hunted down any political opponents and jailed them. The government has no real opposition.

No one is living in tents... in my touristy neighborhood. If the government owns all the land, and can simply give it to whoever needs it, what happens when that government decides not to?

The more we discuss it, it sounds more and more like a failed socialist society. People expect their needs to be met, the government has absolute power, and if you disagree you will end up in the gulag for months being tortured.

Search “Nicaragua human rights” in your preferred search engine and make your own conclusions.

The wildlife is beautiful, we can’t discredit that.

Absurdity Observer

Some Of The Most Absurd Things That Have Happened In Recent Weeks

- Canada disposed of a staggering $1 billion worth of COVID-19 vaccines in December 2022, on top of tens of millions of other doses that have already expired, according to the Auditor General. Signing advanced purchase agreements with a number of pharmaceutical companies was cited as the main reason.
- In a vaccine promotion video aimed at children released days before Christmas, Canada's Chief Public Health Officer Theresa Tam spoke with Mrs. Claus over video chat. In the video, Mrs. Claus claimed that she and Santa received both their COVID-19 boosters and their flu shots. Mrs. Claus then recommended all children get their vaccinations and wear a mask in crowded indoor places to stay safe. Meanwhile, in the US, NIAID director Dr. Fauci claims in an interview with CNN that they "vaccinated Santa Claus."
- The CDC's recently released "V-safe" data reveals that 800,000 vaccine recipients, 7% of all recipients in the database, sought medical care for side effects.
- Chiropractor becomes the first person charged under the COVID-19 false claims law. The FTC fined Chiropractor Eric Nepute $437,920 USD for violating the recently legislated "COVID-19 Consumer Protection Act," for the crime of selling Vitamin D, Zinc and other vitamins, claiming they are immunity boosters that may treat or prevent COVID-19.
- San Francisco Police department asked officials to approve of police being able to deploy killer robots in extreme situations. While officials originally voted in favour of it, San Francisco officials reversed their decision after a public outcry against the policy.
- French fashion house Balenciaga released (and later pulled) an ad campaign featuring children holding teddy bears dressed in BDSM attire. Some photos also featured child sexual abuse documents. While the company is still selling the bondage teddy bears, the company did pull the ad and claimed they: "sincerely apologize for any offence our holiday campaign may have caused."
- It's a crime to feed and clothe the homeless without a permit, the City of Oshawa told a group of community volunteers. The Ontario city's by-law enforcement division fined the organizer for putting together "Christmas Stockings for the Homeless" at the city's downtown Memorial Park. The event was hosted by Communities for Freedom, an association of friends who met during the Freedom Convoy and wanted to help rebuild their community.
- After years of speculation, the weed killer Paraquat has officially been linked to a significantly increased risk of developing Parkinson's Disease, and the manufacturer knew about it for years. Newly uncovered documents show that the Swiss chemical giant Syngenta has known about the potential dangers of their product since at least 2013, when a study found that exposure to this herbicide doubled the risk of developing Parkinson's disease. The US is still using this toxic chemical and many are asking: where is the EPA?

- FDA says telling people not to take ivermectin for covid-19 was just "a recommendation" government lawyers argued during a recent civil suit hearing. Yet, in 2021 the FDA tweeted "You are not a horse. You are not a cow. Seriously, y'all. Stop it." With a link to their page on why ivermectin is not an approved treatment. Plaintiffs in the case include Dr. Paul Marik, the doctor who wrote the Critical Care Medicine textbook for med students, who began utilizing ivermectin in his COVID-19 treatment protocol in 2020 while he was chief of pulmonary and critical care medicine at Eastern Virginia Medical School and director of

- the intensive care unit at Sentara Norfolk General Hospital. After the FDA's statements, Marik was told to remove the protocol from the school's servers while Sentara issued a memorandum to hospitals telling them to stop using ivermectin against COVID-19, with a citation to the FDA.
- Apple restricted AirDrop (a tool widely used by Chinese protesters) in China right before the largest anti-lockdown uprisings. The largest protest in more than 30 years rocked China as hundreds of thousands of demonstrators across the country filled the streets to denounce Beijing's zero-COVID quarantine and testing policies. The restriction is said to have harmed much of the organizational efforts of demonstrators protesting against the CCP's lockdown.
 - YouTube announces that, since introducing their COVID-19 "guidance" last year, they have challenged 11.72 million accounts, suspended 11,230 accounts, and removed over 97,647 videos worldwide as of September 2020 in accordance with their COVID-19 policy.
 - The European Union declares that they will be banning Twitter for all of Europe unless they "moderate" their content per a new act they just created, "The Digital Services Act." According to the EU's website, this act was put in place "to create a safer digital space" and to "establish a level playing field for businesses."
 - New York Times' "Coronavirus in the US: Latest Map

- and Case Count"* data reveal that the top 10 most vaccinated states (averaging 82% vaccine uptake, versus the US national average of 68%) experienced 34% more coronavirus deaths compared to the 10 least vaccinated states.
- Data from the Society of Actuaries (SOA) 2021 Group Life Insurance Survey (Presented by the Humanity Project) shows that the age group 25-64 of the group life policyholders suddenly experienced 40% excess mortality, compared to 32% in the general population. In short, a far healthier subset of the population suddenly died at a higher rate than the general population. Millennials were particularly hit hard. At the time the vaccine mandates ramped up (the third quarter of 2021), millennials experienced 84% excess deaths.
 - A new study published in iScience on Dec 22, 2022, titled "Skewed fate and hematopoiesis of CD34+ HSPCs in umbilical cord blood amid the COVID-19 pandemic" (Estep et al). finds that stem cell founders (HSPCs) and blood cell production in umbilical cord blood dramatically reduced 4-fold in vaccinated participants. Even more shockingly, the drop gets more dramatic with time, with the decline continuing during the entire gestation period.
 - FDA authorizes a new COVID-19 vaccine for babies 6 months and older without any safety data from a clinical trial of this vaccine.
 - Meta/Facebook trained an AI on 48 million science papers and released it to the public, but shut the AI down after 2 days because, according to Meta, it "spewed misinformation" and made anti-vaccine claims. Almost as soon as it hit the web, users questioned the AI with all sorts of hardball scientific questions, with the AI at one point responding "vaccines do cause autism."
 - According to the US disability database, since May 2021, shortly after the Covid shots were deployed, the overall U.S. population has experienced an 11% increase in disabilities. The employed — which is about 98 million out of a total population of about 320 million — experienced a 26% increased rate of disability.
 - After a deceiving CDC study came out claiming masks work, a new study shows the CDC cherry-picked their own data. In an article published in the Journal of Infection titled "Lack of Correlation between school mask mandates and paediatric COVID-19 cases in a large cohort" (Chandra et al), the authors wrote: "In summary, expanding upon a widely cited CDC study, and employing the same methodology but with a larger, more representative dataset over a longer time period, we fail to find the same evidence that school mask mandates are associated with a reduction in county pediatric COVID-19 cases. We demonstrate how observational studies can be misleading when used to guide public health policy."
 - While Ontario, and much of Canada, imposed strict stay-at-home orders on Canadians during the COVID plandemic, a new study published in the American Journal of Preventive Medicine (Young et al) found that exercise, in almost any amount, reduced people's risks of being hospitalized or dying of COVID.
